

How to

Write a newspaper article

1. Get together in your group and brainstorm:
 - what information you will include
 - where to get the information from
2. Structure your ideas in paragraphs.
3. Share paragraph writing in your group and regularly get together for feedback sessions.
4. Start each paragraph with a topic sentence. The following sentences should give lots of background information, details and examples.
5. Find a catchy heading and introduction, as well as an interesting ending that shows that the murder case has not been solved yet but you will keep your reader informed.
6. Write an article of about 300 words and use a dictionary for help.

How to

Prepare and conduct an interview

1. Get together in your group and brainstorm:
 - what topics you will ask about
 - what information you will include
 - where you will get the information from
2. Formulate questions using different question words, be as polite as possible.
3. Think of a logical order of your questions.
4. What else will you ask/ tell the interviewee to create a real-life conversation (do not produce a question-answer interview as this is really impolite!!!)
5. Write down the questions and interview the persons.
6. Write up the interview in about 300 words and use a dictionary for help.

How to

Produce a pictionary

1. Get together in your group and brainstorm:
 - what words and phrases you will include (check your classmates' vocab lists)
 - where you will get the information from
 - how you can show these words and phrases in pictures/ where you can get the pictures from
2. Structure your ideas and produce/ print pictures, match the pictures and the explanations.
3. Glue them onto a sheet of paper.
4. Prepare a pictionary for about 50 words. Use a dictionary for help.

How to

Make a crime board.

1. Check out the internet for different versions of crime boards and, in your group, and choose one.
2. Brainstorm what information, pictures, material, etc. you will need and where you can get them from.
3. Keep asking the other teams for their results.
4. Make sure your crime board is always clear and looks very structured.
5. Use a dictionary for help.

How to

Produce a crossword puzzle.

1. Get together and select the words you would like to use in your crossword puzzle.
2. Write short clues for the puzzle.
3. Group the words across and down to end up with a clear and structured puzzle. You can use black spaces as fillers to show where there will not be any letters.
4. You could also use an online crossword puzzle maker:
<https://www.education.com/worksheet-generator/reading/crossword-puzzle/>
5. Put the answers to the puzzle on a separate sheet of paper.
6. Use a dictionary for help.